Roberts's Advance Continues Though

His Supplies Are Delayed by Blowing-up of Bridges.

IA P. DAY REPORT.)

LONDON, May & -- (By Atlantic Cable.) The following dispatch from Lord Roberts has been received at the War Office:

"SMALDEEL, May & -- The railway from Brandfort to this place has been considerably damaged, and the bridge over the Vet River has been hopelessly damaged. This delays supplies coming up. Every few yards, charges of rackarock have been laid under the rails. This might have created loss of life, but was fortunately discovered by a West Australian infantryman. Winburg has been occupied by the Highlan: Brigade."

In spite of the wrecked railroad, the British advance goes on steadily. Lord Roberts's outposts are apparently about tweive miles north of Smaldeel. Gen. Brabant has joined Gen. Rundle at Thabanchu, whence they are moving forward. The country is all quiet in that direction. A reconnoisance made by Gen. Rundle of the Boers' recent positions at Thabanchu resulted in their being pronounced impregnable, and their evacuation is reported to have been due to the receipt of an urgent message from President Steps. The Boers are said to be moving morthward, but their immediate destination is not known.

The whereabouts of the British cavalry under Gen. French is still a mystery, while Gies. Relly-Kenny's and Gen. Chermside's divisions are also unaccounted for.

EARTHWORMS.

THEY ARE USEFUL AND INTER ESTING CREATURES.

[Our Animal Friends:] The boy who goes fishing with a pail of werms for bait little knows what a pleasant hour he might have and yet make his outing much more agreeable for the worms and for the fish. He should take a look—a scientific peep—at the contents of that pail instead of throwing them ignorantly away. After—all his pains in digging for the worms he and they are scarcely acquaintances, and yet, if we should ask him, he must admit that he has digg up worms in the springtime, year after year, and gone fishing, knowing as little about the worm when his aport was over as he did when he started out.

did when he started out.

EARTHWORM TRAITS.

To see really what sort of a fellow the common earthworm is, first put him into a bowt of water. He will soon wriggle himsel free from every particle of dirt, and you may then make him more comfortable on some dry, smooth surface while you study the peculiar movements of his remarkable body. He belongs to the sub-kingdom, Vermes, class Annelida, which are: "Animals whose bodies are made up of an indefinite number of segmelts, bearing appendages which are not jointed." The name Annelida, is from the Latin word annulus, a ring. The worm's body consists of a series of segmenta, or rings, all alike in form, except at the two ends; the anterior end tapers to a blunt point; the hinder end is broad and flattened. Watch the worm shorten himself after a long stretch. Projecting from the sides and the lower portion of each ring you will see the tiny bristles, called, sotals, with which he manages to walk. When he lengthens his body the setae on the hinder rings prevent him from stretching backward, stick into the ground. The worm can therefore, etretch only forward. In the same manner when he shortens his body the setae in the froit rings stick into the ground, and the hinder part of his body is drawn up; he repeats this process every three he moves along.

LOCOMOTION.

POMONA, May 7, 1966.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I notice your editorial indorsement of the Hon. W. P. Hephurn of Iowa for Vice-President. As an Iowa Republican, who lived for many years in his district, and was always one of his warmest supporters, I rise to second the nomination, and as I shall have the distinguished honor of representing the city of Pomona at Sacramento next week, shall do my best to secure the passage of a resolution making him the choice of the California delegation for second place on the national ticket.

[A. P. DAY REPORT.]

CINCINNATI 'May S.—Delegates to the national conveption of the 'Middle-of-the-rogety Fopdist, which will be opened in this sity. Mednesday, began today to wear a business air. Wharton barker of Penpsylvania and Ignatius Donnelly of Minnesota are both on the round, making their headquarters at he Dennison Hotel. The Texas delegation of over forty men arrived today, this gave rise to predictions on the sart of J. A. Parker, secretary of the factional Committee, that no less than to delegates will be in their seats when hairman Deaver calls for order at 2:30 clock temorrow afternoon.

Little was heard today regarding the lan on the part of the Minnesota deletate to promote Donnelly for the Presential nomines. That such a class was a contract of the minnesota deletate to promote Donnelly for the Presential nomines.

heimer, Dalton, Ga.; corresponding secretary, J. W. Streator, New Jersey. The members of the association are editors and proprietors for the most part of weekly Populist papers throughout the South and West. After a lengthy debate they adopted the following resolutions, which will be presented to the National Committee of the "Middle-of-the-roaders:"

"The National Reform Press Association, affirming its fidelity to the basic principles proclaimed in the Omaha platform, recommends to the national convention of the People's party, about to assemble in this city, the adoption of a platform embodying these propositions—propositions which we stand for:

PEORIA (III..) May &—The initial test in the Republican State Convention today proyad a defeat for the Tanner-Hancey faction. The fight came at the very outset of the convention on the election of a temporary chairman. The State Central Committee had chosen John J. Brown of Vandaia at another meeting. The Cullom-Reeves-Carter combination executed a masterstroke by naming Charles Dawes, Comptreller of the Currency. Owing to the close identification of Mr. Dawes with the national administration, the effect was to give the opposition to the Tanner-Hancey faction the sanction of the President. Dawes was elected temporary chairman by a vote of 799 to 78 for Brown. The result was received with wild cheering. On taking the gavel, Mr. Dawes addressed the convention. Speaking of trusts he said:

"I wish to state that I do not agree with those who maintain that the question of trusts is not. a political question. It is true that trusts have their origin in industrial conditions for which neither political party is responsible. It is likewise true that the great masses of both political parties believe that some legislation is necessary to protect the public from the evils which must result from the monopolistic condition of the production and distribution of some of the necessaries and comforts of title.

"I believe the people are willing to recognize the benefits which may come in the way of cheaper prices to a community through limited and proper combinations of capital and effort, and they are not opposed to any corporation simply because it is large. But when by combination competition is suppressed and the saving which compromite is maintained, the people demand and shall secure governmental interference and regulation.

"The difference between the two great political parties, if easy, will be as to the nature of the remedy and not in the desire to find it or to enforce it when found."

Chairman Dawes announced that the Credentials Committee could not report before morning, and an adjournment until 19 o'clock in the Benator Allen, who may be considered the leader of the delegation, as he is also the especial champion of Bryan is exercising himself especially to secure that action which will most certainly redound to Bryan's benefit. A majority of the delegates from Nebraska are apparently favorable to the reference of the whole question to a committee of one from each State, to be appointed to confer with the Democrats at Kansas City. In this position Senator, Allen is sharply antagonized by Senator Butler of North Carolina and Senator Pettigrew of this State. I tmay be said, in fact, that the United States Senators who are present are holding conflicting opinions on this all-absorbing question, and it begins to look as if they would carry their differences into the convention fiself. In case they do, the convention will be by no means a monotonous affair.

Butler and Pettigrew are unquestionably exerting their utmost endeavors in behalf of Towne, and while they apreciate that there are still many obstacles to overcome, they express themselves in private conversation as confident of success. One straw showing the way the wind blows is found in a vote which was taken on the special train coming from Omaha this morning. Two cars, containing sixty-eight delegates, were canvassed, and of the 68 votes cast, 58 were favorable to Towne.

the 68 votes cast, 58 were favorable to Towne.

There is, however, among those who believe in the wisdom of nominating a candidate, some opposition to Towne. There is a certain element, led by Gen. Weaver, of Iowa, which is advocating the nomination of a straight Populist ticket, while there are others still who express the opinion that if a candidate other than a Populist is to benominated, he should be a man of Democratic proclivities, so as to make sure of his indorsement by the Democratic convention. In this connection, some of the Illinois delegates have suggested ex-Vice-President Adiai E. Stevenson. There is also present a gentleman from New York who is circulating very industriously among the delegates in the interest of Congressman Sulser.

Suiser.
Still another proposition which has been made, and this is advocated by Delegates Washburn and Brown of Massachusetts, is that the convention should name several persons, any one of whom would be acceptable to the Populists as a Vice-Presidential candi-

Democratic Convention that Porto Rico be entitled to a delegate at the National Convention at Kansas City.

PEORIA (Ill.,) May 3.—The initial test in the Republican State Convention today proved a defeat for the Tanner-Hancey faction. The fight came at the very outset of the convention on the election of a temporary chairman. The State Central Committee had chosen John J. Brown of Vandalia at another meeting. The Cullom-Reeves-Carter combination executed a masterstroke by naming Charles Dawes, Comptroller of the Currency.

Owing to the close identification of Mr. Dawes with the national administration, the effect was to give the opposition to the Tanner-Hancey faction the sanction of the President. OTHER PARTICULARS.

IA.P. DAY REFORT.]

SIOUX FALLS, May E.—There were probably 200 delegates to the Populist convention here at noon teday. Interest centers upon the nomination of Vice-President, but it cannot yet be said there is any crystallized suggestion as to the most desirable plan to pursue. There has been a hint that Gen. Weaver may be named for this place; the name of Dr. Taylor of Chicago is occasionally mentioned, and today's arrivals brought the suggestion of the name of E. Gerry Brown of Massachusetts. Bo far. however, as individuals are concerned, there is still more talk of Town, Silver Republican, than of any one else.

Upon the whole, delegates who have arrived seem inclined to favor the plan of making no nomination for Vice-President, leaving the matter of deciding upon a candidate to a committee to be appointed to confer with the Democrats and Silver Republicans. The Colorado delegation, led by the Hon. T. M. Patterson, is strongly pressing this course as the wisest, and Kansas and Nebraska are apparently inclined to second the suggestion. The plan also had advocates from Texas. R is nated with Bryan himself.

The Nebraska delegation, which came in at 9 o'clock this coorning, was accompanied on its special train by the Colorado delegation and parts of the Kansas, Texas, Iowa and Missouri delegations. The train carried about 250 delegates. All of them came direct from the Omaha banquet, which they pronounced one of the greatest successes of its kind on record. Among the leaders who have arrived are: Hon. T. M. Patterson of Colorado; John W. Breidenthal of Kansas, who is shated for the Fopulist nomination for Governor of that State; John Allen, mattomal committeeman from Kansas: Gov. Poynter and Chairman E. H. Edmiston of Nebraska; J. H. ("Cyclone") Davis, and Chairman J. S. Bradley of Texas, and E. Gerry Brown of Massachusotts.

announced as temporary chairman and addressed the convention.

After a few preliminary remarks, Gov. Atkinson took up the Porto Rican question, defending the tariff policy adopted by the administration as the best mode of raising revenues for the Island. He said 35 per cent of the population was poor and had nothing to export, while the other 5 per cent were well-to-do and amply able to pay. Said he:

"It is claimed by our Democratic friends that this plan for raising revenue was dictated by the tobacco and sugar trusts. This is not true. Common sense itself brands the charge as faliacious and faise. The trusts naturally wish to buy as cheaply as they can. They buy their raw material in large quantities and no doubt plan to save, so far as possible, all expense for middlemen. They would nacurall—therefore, buy itheir raw material as directly as possible from the producers themselves. It is probable, therefore, that most of the raw sugar and tobacco now in Porto Rico warehouses belongs to the trusts or their brokers. But they have already bought the sugar and tobacco now in the warehouses of Porto Rico and it would be manifectly to their interest to have these products admitted to the United States free of duty. In no way that I can see could it be profitable to them to have a tariff on these products. Reason dictates, therefore, that if these trusts have any interest in the matter at all, they would naturally be in favor of immediate free trust."

in the matter at all, they would naturally be in favor of immediate free trade."

He denied the claim that the Constitution extends automatically over the newly-acquired possessions. Said he:

"That doctrine was repudiated in 1847 and we repudiate it now. As Republicans we propose to stand with Daniel Webster and against John C. Calhoun and with Abraham Lincoin and against Jefferson Davis. The Constitution of the United States extends only so far as it is carried by constitutional enactment and not by its inherent force. This question is one of the many great problems that was forever settled at Appomatiox and it cannot be galvanized into life again by the Democratic party in the approaching campaign."

After the appointment of committees the convention took a recess until 3 p.m. During the recess the Second Congress District Republicans chose delegates to the national convention.

German Emperor Considers

Reason of Kaiser's Attitude Toward England.

PARIS, May 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Patrie, an afternoon Nationalist newspaper, classed as sensational, in a dispatch from London today, claims to have discovered the real reason for the friendly attitude of Emperor William of Germany toward Great Britain at the present juncture, which it declares is German Emperor's belief that war between Germany and the United States is possible, and in view of that contingency he wishes to win over Great Britain to neutrality. Continuing, the Fatrie recalls' the friction caused by the action of the German naval commander, Admiral Diedrichs, at Manila, and affirms that the opposition of the United States to Emperor William's dream of founding a greater Germany in Brasil and Argentina is responsible for the coldness in the relations between the two countries. It concludes:

"War between America and Germany is, therefore, not impossible in the near future, and it is in view of this war and not with hostile intentions towards England, that Germany is making unheard of efforts to increase her navy. In the interval the sole aim of German policy is to prevent an Anglo-American alliance. There is the secret of the Emperor's attitude, for if England believed in a coalition of the powers against her she would not hesitate to conclude a Yankee alliance. The Emperor is striving to appear at least devoted to England in order to more surely realize his dream and make Brasil and Argentina future dependencies of the German empire." [A. P. DAT REPORT.]

NEW ORLEANS, May 8.—The Morgan liner El Paso, which arrived early today from New York, brought Second Mate W. M. Moore and fourteen of the crew of the wreeked British steamer Virginia. This vessel, Capt. Charles Samuel, from Daiquiri, Cuba, for Baltimore, with a cargo of Iron ore and a crew of twenty-six men, stranded on Diamond shoals last Wednesday evening. Mate Moore and the crew as soon as they arrived in New Orleans went to the office of the British Consul.

There they related a tale of great hardship. Moore and fourteen men with him managed to get into a boat after the stranding of the vessel, but were unable to make shore owing to high wind from the land, and were driven out into the open sea. Pight for a License.

The contest which has been on for several weeks before the Board of Police Commissioners for possession of the license of the asloon at No. 258 West First street, was decided yesterday when the board reaffirmed its former action and granted the license to D. J. Lewis, who formerly owned the place. The saloon was until recently in the hands of C. E. Forster. He failed in business and the asloon was attached by several creditors. Lewis held a chatter mortgage on the saloon and was secured by Maier & Zebeiein. Other creditors, of whom there are quite a number, had no scourity, and they made a spirited contest to prevent Lewis securing about the only valuable asset, the saloon ilcome. The board thought Lewis had the best claim upon the license, and granted it to him.

Jacob Hafner, an important witness in the second trial of William Colon, charged with grand iarceny, has come to have a naive disregard for the peace and dignity of the people of the State of California. He has written the District Attorney that if the county wants him at the coming trial, it will have to send for him.

Hafner is a laborer, out on the Southern Pacific section near Puente. He says that he paid out enough money to attend the first trial of Colon, when the jury hung, without going to a similar expense a second time. He is too poor a man to undergo the hardship without a protest, and, although he has been subpoenaed, he wishes the authorities to be acquainted with what he intends to do in the premises. He can be reached at Puente at any time; if the prosecution wishes his presence, he will be only too glad to respond, provided the county forwards his expenses—not otherwise.
